

Dear Alumni and Friends:

The University of Maryland School of Law is ranked among the best public law schools in the United States. We enjoy national recognition for our clinical programs. We are a center of excellence in legal education with an outstanding reputation.

The School of Law's annual fund goal has been increasing over the past few years, and I am pleased to tell you that we consistently achieve and even exceed that goal. Your annual gifts support a variety of programs which help the law school stand out among its peer institutions. Today's students rely on your unrestricted giving to ensure that we can meet the ongoing needs of our operations and to enhance their academic experiences.

Over the next three years, we will be constructing a building that represents the finest state-of-the-art legal education facility we can offer our students. The investment of our alumni and friends will ensure that the quality of the programs inside matches the grandeur of the building outside.

Again, many thanks for your continued generous support.

Very truly yours,

*P. Dennis Belman
Chair, Law School Fund*

Annual Giving Clubs

The School of Law redefined its annual giving clubs during the 1997-98 Law School Fund campaign. Membership in an annual giving club is granted for the fiscal year in which a gift is made. Recognition on the wall of donors in the School of Law is given the year immediately following the end of a campaign. Our annual giving clubs are defined below.

Major Law School Expenditures

The Annual Fund supported the following School of Law activities during Fiscal Year 1999.

Clinical Law Programs

Annual Fund contributions enabled the School of Law to enhance its nationally acclaimed clinical programs in which students represent clients in a wide variety of fields ranging from those with family law problems and criminal defendants to emerging businesses and university scientists.

Computer Technology

The Annual Fund provided funds for computer technology including hardware, software and staffing necessary for today's law school. Many faculty members use computer "list serves" or "discussion groups" with students so that they can continue discussions beyond the classroom hours.

Career Development

Annual alumni contributions supported the School of Law's new initiatives to assist in finding jobs. In today's Career Development office, three professionals, all with JDs, help students find meaningful jobs. More than 96 percent of last year's (1998) graduating class were employed six months after graduation.

Students and Programs

The Annual Fund was the principal financial resource enabling the School of Law to provide opportunities to meet informally with the Dean and other members of the faculty and staff. The funds also supported a student Writing Center to assist students in improving their writing skills, a variety of visiting lecturers and guests to the Law School, and several programs that allowed students to meet and talk with the Dean.

Alumni Events

The Annual Fund supported a variety of events in which the Dean had the opportunity to meet with alumni and bring them up to date about the exciting things happening at the Law School. In addition, it supported the mailing of the "Dean's Letter" to all alumni as well as the JD alumni magazine.

Anticipated Use of Annual Funds for the Fiscal Year 2000

You Annual Fund gifts are extremely important to the quality of our programs of the School of Law. Your gifts during the upcoming year will continue to support our nationally ranked clinical programs, in which students gain valuable experience representing real clients in actual cases. Other uses of the Annual Fund will continue to be to make the School of Law a more student-friendly place and to build our Career Development office to ensure that our students have the best opportunities of finding meaningful and lucrative employment.

Recognition of Distinguished Support

Leadership and learning are indispensable to each other. Leadership gifts provide the impetus for excellence at the University of Maryland School of Law. Many Maryland Law School Club members (contributors of $1,000 or more annually) devote their time and energy, in addition to their financial resources, as further evidence of their commitments to the School of Law and legal education.

Maryland Law School Club

David Hoffman Society

The David Hoffman Society recognizes individuals for their extraordinary commitment to advancing legal education through the generosity of $5,000 or more in one year.
